

KNOW YOUR RIGHTS

The most important aspect of community safety is to be in relationship with each other. This means knowing and caring about our neighbors, our coworkers, and our fellow Pennsylvanians. All of us have rights—as people on U.S. soil and as community members. We uphold these rights together.

YOUR RIGHTS

- You have the right to remain silent and do not have to answer any questions.
- You do not have to open your door unless an officer has a valid warrant signed by a judge.
- You have the right to speak to a lawyer before answering any questions or signing any documents.

WHAT TO DO IF YOU SEE ICE ACTIVITY

You have the right to record ICE and other law enforcement during their operations to the extent that you feel comfortable.

Community hotlines are being flooded with reports. Given how fast interactions with ICE happen, the most likely outcome of reporting is the ability of community organizations to follow up with family members of people who are detained and offer support. In these instances, accuracy is just as (if not more!) important as speed.

If you think you observe ICE activity, gather as much information as possible to help advocates and loved ones identify and assist the person impacted. The goal is to share information—not to escalate the situation or spread panic.

A helpful way to remember the most comprehensive information to report and what's useful to record is

Size: "Around 10 law enforcement officers and 5 unmarked SUVs."

Activity: "Harassing random people on the street."

Location: "Norristown, outside the courthouse on Airy Street."

Uniform: "Dark blue uniforms that say 'Police ICE' on the back."

Time and date: "12:45 PM, Thursday, October 9."

Equipment: "They wore helmets and had vests and batons."

REMEMBER: Do not share any videos or recordings on social media or other public spaces.

Instead, provide footage and details to trusted community organizations (see below) to determine the best way to use it. Save the unedited video on your phone as well as on an external hard drive or cloud storage for backup without changing the name of the file.
